for Quality Preserved Wood Products

Western Wood Preservers Institute represents the preservative-treated wood industry in western North America. WWPI members are dedicated to providing quality products that meet all building code and treating standards while using only EPA-registered preservatives.

Below are the WWPI Treater Members, contact information and preservatives they offer in treating wood products. Review the back page for plant locations. For more information on preserved wood, go to PreservedWood.org.
